My dear Sir,

9 You are at the head of city missions, I learn. My Father in law, Rev. Mr. Sawyer now of Sargus would like to be one of your assistants if you should wish his services. He is over sixty; but his heart is warm in the cause of his Master. He is not popular as a preacher, his manner being rather heavy; but he is well fitted to visit, converse, & preach & attend little meetings. I do not hesitate to give it as my opinion that he would do well as an assistant to you in your important field. He will do just as you wish him to do, & he will diffuse a savor of piety wherever he goes. What you give other assistants that are not preachers, I presume would satisfy him. He seeks not great things. Can you give him something to do? Please write soon & inform me. He wishes to make other arrangements immediately if you have no service for him to perform. I hope you may have employment for him

Yrs. Daniel Felt
